AUSTSWIM's Board has anticipated and planned for the forthcoming retirement of CEO Gordon Mallett at the end of 2015.

The Board is implementing a succession plan transitioning to a new CEO with ongoing support and advice from Gordon Mallett as required.

As part of this plan, Board Chairman John Rigby is pleased to announce that the new CEO will be Jennifer Schembri-Portelli. Most industry members will know Jennifer as JSP; who as part of the organisations senior management team has made significant impact on AUSTSWIM's change management program, products, services, administration and customer service.

Mr Rigby said " Gordon has guided AUSTSWIM through the establishment and implementation of four successful strategic plans with unity being the first phase followed by development and re-development of world-class resources and courses. AUSTSWIM is an organisation of continual improvement, efficiency and effectiveness thanks to Gordon's leadership."

Gordon will hand over the reigns to JSP in October but will continue full-time until years end, providing support.
